

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

The PAQS 2019 Congress is currently calling for abstracts for both industry and academic presentation submissions. We are seeking papers that will provoke debate, stimulate discussion, offer new ideas, learning and encourage the dissemination of research findings. Technical submissions from the industry professionals are encouraged on current or future projects, methodologies and technologies. We are encouraging academic submissions based on research outcomes and developments.

Please ensure you read all information on this page prior to submitting your abstract.

Types of Submissions

1. Technical presentations

Technical presentations are encouraged from industry professionals on current and future projects, methodologies and technologies. For this category, an extended abstract needs to be submitted after the abstract acceptance, for inclusion in the conference proceedings

2. Academic paper presentations

Academic paper presentations should be based on research outcomes and developments. For this category, a full paper needs to be submitted after the abstract acceptance, for inclusion in the conference proceedings. All full papers will be double-blind peer reviewed
